Welcome to Meals that Care

This guide walks you through every feature of the app you now have access to, so you get the most out of your purchase from day one.

Meals that Care is a premium web app, not a PDF you download once and forget. It gives you 100 original recipes — professionally translated into Spanish, English and French — organized around one simple principle: lunch can be hearty because you have the whole day to be active and digest it, while dinner should stay light and easy to digest so you can sleep soundly. Every recipe respects that logic.

Because it's a living app tied to your account, it updates itself, remembers your favorites, recalculates portions on demand, and builds your shopping list for you — none of which a static file can do.

Live language switcher

Switch between Spanish, English and French instantly, on any page — professional translation, not machine-generated.

Portion recalcuator

Scale any recipe to 1, 2, 4, 6, 8 or a custom number of servings, with real culinary rounding.

Transparent estimated cost

Every recipe shows a total and per-serving cost, with its reference source, update date and reliability level.

Honest nutrition info

Estimated values per serving, with a cited source — never a medical claim.

Everything in this guide reflects the app exactly as it works today. New recipes and improvements are added over time, at no extra cost to you.

Purchase & sign-in

There's no password to remember. Access is tied to the email address you used to buy on Hotmart.

1 Buy on Hotmart

Complete your purchase of Meals that Care on Hotmart, using the email address you check regularly — this is the email your account will be linked to.

2 Open the sign-in page

From the app, choose "I already bought it, sign in" (or "Sign in" in the header) and enter that same email address.

3 Check your email

We send a one-time access code to your inbox — no password to create or remember.

4 Enter the code

Paste or type the code on the "Verify and sign in" screen. You're in — the app remembers your session on that device.

If something doesn't work

Code expired or already used

Request a new one from the sign-in page — codes are single-use and time-limited for your security.

"We don't see an active purchase"

You signed in, but that email has no purchase on file. Double-check you used the exact email from your Hotmart receipt, or contact support.

Purchased with a different email than the one you're signing in with? Sign out and sign back in with the email from your Hotmart receipt — access is matched by email, not by device.

Navigating the app

Every page shares the same header, so you're never more than one click from anything.

In the header, left to right:

- Brand mark — always brings you back to the home page.
- Recipes — the full catalog, grouped by category.
- Shopping list — your running, auto-combined list.
- Favorites — every recipe you've saved with the heart icon.

On the right side:

- Account menu — shows you're signed in, and lets you sign out.
- Country selector — pick a reference country/currency (Colombia, Mexico, United States, Canada, Spain, France, United Kingdom) so every estimated cost converts automatically.
- Language switcher — swap the entire interface and recipe text between Spanish, English and French, without losing your place.

Note: the Recipes, Shopping list and Favorites links only appear once you're signed in with an account that has an active purchase.

Your language and country preferences are remembered for your next visit, so you don't have to reset them every time.

Browsing recipes by category

The 100 recipes are organized by category and moment of the day, so nutritional coherence between lunch and dinner is always respected.

Starters & tapas

Includes soups and full salads — the flexible category for any time.

Lunches

Hearty and satisfying — built for midday, when you have the day ahead to digest.

Dinners

Light and easy to digest, by design — so you can sleep soundly.

Desserts

Reinterpreted with care — never "diet food," never guilt language.

The "good time for..." banner

At the top of the recipe catalog, a banner reads the time of day and suggests a fitting recipe — a lunch idea at midday, a light dinner idea in the evening. Tap it to jump straight to that recipe.

Tap any recipe card to open its full page — ingredients, method, nutrition and cost are always one click away.

Anatomy of a recipe page

Every one of the 100 recipes follows the same structure, so once you've read one, you know them all.

At the top of the page

Photo & badges

A styled dish photo plus quick badges for cuisine, prep time, cook time, total time and difficulty.

Actions bar

● Favorite (heart), ● Share and ● Print, in one row.

Title & intro

The recipe name and a short blurb describing what makes it worth cooking.

The portion recalcuator

Choose 1, 2, 4, 6, 8 or a custom number of servings — every ingredient quantity updates instantly, with real culinary rounding rather than raw decimals. The total estimated cost recalculates with it. (Nutrition values stay per serving and don't change.)

Select the ingredients you need with their checkboxes, then use "Add selected to list" to send them straight to your shopping list.

Favorite, share & print

- ♥ Favorite — saves the recipe to your account; find it later on the Favorites page.
- ↗ Share — opens your device's share sheet, or copies the recipe link to your clipboard.
- 🖨️ Print — opens a clean, print-friendly version of the recipe.

Nutrition, cost & the rest

Below the method, every recipe adds the practical detail that turns a recipe list into a real meal-planning tool.

Method

Numbered, step-by-step instructions.

Tips, mistakes & substitutions

Practical notes: what to watch for, common mistakes, and swaps if you're missing an ingredient.

Storage & pairing

How to store leftovers, and a serving suggestion.

Budget / vegetarian version

A lighter-on-the-wallet or plant-based variation, when relevant.

Common allergens are always called out clearly. This information doesn't replace the guidance of a health professional.

Estimated nutrition (per serving)

Calories	e.g. 480 kcal
Protein	e.g. 32 g
Carbohydrates	e.g. 41 g
Fat	e.g. 18 g

Every table cites its estimation source.

Estimated cost (per serving)

Shown in the currency of the country you picked in the header. We reflect quality ingredients that care for you well — never the cheapest option on the market.

Reference market & update date shown alongside every price.

Your shopping list

One list, built from as many recipes as you like, that combines matching ingredients automatically.

1

Add from any recipe

Tick the ingredients you need on a recipe page and choose "Add selected to list."

2

It combines itself

Add the same ingredient from two or three different recipes, and the list quietly merges the quantities into one line.

3

Add anything manually

Type a name, quantity and unit for anything that isn't part of a recipe — a grocery list extra, for instance.

4

Check items off as you shop

Tick items in the store, then use "Clear checked items" to tidy the list for next time.

Organized by aisle

Items are grouped automatically into categories, so shopping is faster:

Fruits & vegetables

Protein

Dairy & alternatives

Grains & cereals

Legumes

Spices

Pantry

Frozen

Other

Your list is saved to your account — it's exactly where you left it, whether you check it on your phone at the store or on your laptop at home.

Favorites & your account

Save the recipes you love and keep them one tap away.

Saving favorites

Tap the ♥ on any recipe page to save it. It turns solid to confirm, and a small confirmation message appears. Tap it again to remove the recipe from your favorites.

Open Favorites in the header any time to see every recipe you've saved, in one place. If it's empty, browse the recipes and tap a heart to start your collection.

Your account menu

- Shows a friendly greeting confirming which email you're signed in as.
 - Lets you sign out with one click — useful on a shared or public device.

Multiple devices, one account

Sign in with the same email on your phone, tablet or computer — your favorites and shopping list follow you everywhere, because they live on your account, not on the device.

Before you ask, check here

Q. Is this a PDF I'll download?

No. It's a web app with your own account — it updates, saves your favorites, and recalculates portions live.

Q. What happens if new recipes are added after I buy?

You get them at no extra cost — that's the standard for digital products on Hotmart.

Q. Are the ingredient prices real?

They're reference estimates for Bogotá, Colombia, always marked with their update date — not live prices pulled from a specific store. Use the country selector to see them converted to your currency.

Q. Does this work if I have a medical condition or allergy?

Every recipe lists allergens and offers alternatives. The product doesn't replace guidance from a health professional.

Q. I bought with one email but I'm signing in with another — what now?

Access is matched to the email used on Hotmart. Sign out and sign back in with that exact email, or contact support to sort it out.

Q. What if I don't like it?

You have 7 days from purchase to request a full refund — contact support and we'll handle it through Hotmart.

Support, refunds & policies

Contact support

Write to xiomilena@yahoo.com for anything about your access, your purchase or the app itself. Include the email you purchased with.

7-day refund window

Not the right fit? Contact support within 7 days of your purchase and we'll process a full refund through Hotmart.

Terms & privacy

Full terms and conditions and our privacy policy are linked in the footer of every page of the app.

Purchase & billing

Receipts, invoices and payment details are always managed directly through your Hotmart account.

Keep this guide handy, but remember the app itself is always the source of truth — recipes, prices and features are updated there first.

Thank you for choosing Meals that Care. We hope it makes cooking — and eating well — a little easier, one meal at a time.
